Whitehall, July 21, 1761.

LAST Night Captain Douglas arrived with the following Letter from the Right Honourable Lord Rollo, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt.

Roſeau in the Iſland of Dominique, June 8, 1761.

SIR,

I Had the Honour of writing to you on the 3d Inſtant from Guadeloupe; and I then informed you of the Reſolution I had taken to proceed directly to attack the Iſland of Dominico, with the few North American Troops which had arrived, and the Reinforcement furniſhed by Governor Dalrymple, under the Command of Lieutenant Governor Melvill. I accordingly ſailed from the Road of Baſſeterre, under the Eſcort of Commodore Sir James Douglas, with four Ships of the Line, and ſome Frigates, on His Majeſty's Birth-day, and arrived within a League of Roſeau about Noon on the 6th; when we judged it beſt to ſend a Summons to the Inhabitants; to which, after their recovering ſomewhat from their Conſternation, and having ſent off two Deputies, probably, to amuſe us, they returned a Negative Anſwer, mann'd their Entrenchments and Batteries at and above Roſeau, and prepared to ſtand on their Defence: I thereupon gave immediate Orders for the Troops to land; which was effected very ſpeedily, and in the beſt Order, much owing to the Diſpoſition of the Boats, and Poſition of the King's Ships, very judiciouſly directed by the Commodore; and, agreeably to Orders given, there was not one ſingle Cannon or Muſquet diſcharged, till the Enemy began to fire juſt before our Landing. The Troops formed quickly on the Beach, and while Part ſoon after poſſeſſed the Town, the Corps of Grenadiers, conſiſting of the Companies of the Fourth and Twenty-ſecond Regiments, commanded by Colonel Melvill, ſeized a Flanking Battery, and Part of an adjoining Entrenchment, which had been abandoned. The Enemy annoyed us with ſome popping Muſquetry from behind Trees and Buſhes, and fired from Time to Time from their Battery, over-looking their Entrenchments, the Town and Shore. It was now pretty late, and it appeared to me, that the Troops might be extremely harraſſed, and ſuffer even great Loſs, during the Night, by the Cannon and Muſquetry of the Enemy, from the Entrenchments over-looking the Town; as alſo, that the Enemy might be much reinforced before Morning; and having an exceſſive ſtrong Country in their Favour, with four Entrenchments behind, and above each other, might make a great Defence. I judged it beſt therefore to order them to be immediately attacked by the Grenadiers, ſupported by the Battalion Troops, which was accordingly done, with ſo much Order, Rapidity, and Reſolution, that the Enemy, with very little Loſs, were driven ſucceſſively, in great Confuſion, from all their Entrenchments, from their Batteries, and from the Head-Quarter above it, where Colonel Melvill immediately took Poſt, with the Grenadiers. We took there, M. de Longprie, the French Commandant; their ſecond Officer, M. de la Couche, and ſome others, with a Quantity of Powder.

I lay myſelf at their advanced Poſt during the Night, having eſtabliſhed a Communication, by proper Guards, with the reſt of the Troops who poſſeſſed the Town. Next Day I eſtabliſhed my Head Quarters in Roſeau; and have been ſince much employed in receiving the Oaths of Submiſſion and Surrender of Arms from the neareſt Inhabitants, as well as in diſpatching Orders for that Effect to the diſtant Quarters; the Landing of Military Stores and Proviſions, the Quartering of the Troops, and the Preparations to occupy and entrench a defenſible Poſt, have been the chief Objects of my Attention hitherto.

I ſhall ſoon have the Honour of tranſmitting to you more particular Accounts of this Iſland; but muſt inform you, in the mean Time, that as it was carried by Aſſault, I gave them no other Terms than a Protection, till His Majeſty's Pleaſure ſhould be known, obliging them firſt to deliver up all their Arms, and to ſwear Allegiance to His Majeſty. Five Hundred of the Inhabitants, among which are the Captains and Militia Officers of the Quarters, with moſt of the principal Planters, have delivered up their Arms, and ſworn Submiſſion, for which I have granted them a Protection, till His Majeſty's further Pleaſure ſhall be known. The native Caraibs, who inhabit a rugged Quarter on the Windward Part of the Iſland, ſeem to like their new Maſters, and are to deliver up their Arms in a Body.

I cannot conclude without having the Pleaſure of aſſuring you, that the greateſt Harmony has ſubſiſted between His Majeſty's Squadron, and the Troops under my Command; and that I have experienced the greateſt Zeal, and moſt chearful Support from the Commodore, who alſo very much favoured the Attack, by a briſk and well directed Cannonade. As to the King's Troops, I cannot enough applaud the Coolneſs and Intrepidity with which they acted on the Occaſion.

It is probable, that this will be delivered to you by Captain Douglas, of His Majeſty's fourth Regiment, who, notwithſtanding very bad Health, came upon this Service, and was preſent in the Attack; but, being become much worſe, now returns, with my Leave, to Guadeloupe.

I am, &c.

Rollo.

Admiralty Office, July 21, 1761.

Captain Innis, of His Majeſty's Ship the Arundell, arrived here laſt Night, with the following Account tranſmitted by Commodore Sir James Douglas, to Mr. Clevland, dated on Board the Dublin, in the Road of Roſeau. Dominique, the 13th of June, 1761.

ON the 4th of June I ſailed from Guadeloupe with the Troops we had for Dominique, with the Dublin, Belliqueux, Sutherland and Montague, and on the 6th in the Forenoon arrived off Roſeau, when I ſent a Lieutenant on Shore, accompanied by a Land Officer, with a Manifeſt, ſigned by Lord Rollo and myſelf, addreſſed to the Principal Inhabitants, and all others reſiding in the Neutral Iſlands of Dominique, which was read by the Officer to the People in the Town; and ſoon after two of the Inhabitants of moſt Note came off in the Boat to me, who ſeemed, upon the Whole of their Converſation, not not to be diſpleaſed at our coming to take Poſſeſſion of the Iſland; but in the Afternoon, when they were put on Shore, we found the People were ſpirited up by the Governor, Monſieur Longprie, to ſtand upon their Defence, and declared they had come to a Determination to defend themſelves: Upon which I ordered the Ships to anchor as cloſe in as poſſible, and the neceſſary Diſpoſitions were accordingly made for landing the Troops, which was effected about Five in the Evening, under Cover of the Shipping; and notwithſtanding the Enemy had four Intrenchments upon the Face of a ſteep Hill, with 2 Nine Pounders in the upper one, Lord Rollo, at the Head of his Troops, and Colonel Melvill, at the Head of the Grenadiers, with a ſurprizing Alertneſs and Intrepidity, drove the Enemy from their Intrenchments and Battery, with the Loſs only of about eight Men killed and wounded, and made themſelves Maſters of Roſeau, and the adjacent Places of Defence, in a Time too ſhort to be conceived from the Difficulty of the Undertaking. The Reſiſtance the Enemy made, has put it in our Power to bring them to ſuch Terms as we pleaſe; and they are flocking from all Parts of the Iſland, to take the Oath of Allegiance to His Majeſty King George.

M. Lemprie is a Priſoner, with three other of the principal People.

It is with Pleaſure I aſſure their Lordſhips of the good Underſtanding ſubſiſting between the Officers and Men of the Navy and Army.

St. James's, July 21.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Common-Council of the City of Cheſter, has been preſented to His Majeſty: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Common Council of the City of Cheſter, in Common-Council aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful Subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and Common Council of your ancient and loyal City of Cheſter, amidſt the univerſal Joy of your Subjects, beg Leave to approach your Throne, with our warmeſt Congratulations, on the late glorious Succeſs of your Majeſty's Arms, in the Conqueſt of the important Iſland of Belleiſle. A Conqueſt, Sir, in all its Circumſtances, ſo brilliant, ſeems to have been reſerved to mark the Outſet of a Reign of Glory, and to tell your vaunting Adverſary, with whom he has to contend. We are poſſeſſed, Sir, with an entire Confidence in your Majeſty's Wiſdom and Goodneſs towards your People; and we flatter ourſelves, that the further Progreſs of your Arms, will, in due Time, teach Reaſon to thoſe who have hitherto diſregarded the Equity and Moderation of the Britiſh Crown.

Your Majeſty's moſt gracious Declaration, of your Reſolution of demanding in Marriage the Princeſs Charlotte of Mecklenburg Strelitz, a Princeſs diſtinguiſhed by every eminent Virtue, and amiable Endowment, whoſe illuſtrious Line has conſtantly ſhewn the firmeſt Zeal for the Proteſtant Religion, and a particular Attachment to your Royal Family, affects us with the higheſt Degree of Satisfaction. Permit us, Sir, to expreſs our moſt grateful Acknowledgments to your Majeſty, for this Inſtance of your paternal Goodneſs, and attentive Regard to the Welfare and Happineſs of your People. Give us leave, to add our moſt ardent Wiſhes, that theſe Kingdoms may never want a Succeſſion of Princes of your illuſtrious Line, to beſtow thoſe Bleſſings upon them, in future Ages, which we, at preſent, have the Happineſs to enjoy, under your Majeſty's moſt auſpicious Reign.

Given under our Common Seal this 14th Day of July, 1761.
